Background information

Watford Palace Theatre is a 21st Century producing theatre which works across the art forms of theatre, dance, comedy and outdoor arts.

Watford Palace is a beautiful Edwardian 600-seat Theatre. The organisation receives core revenue funding from Arts Council England as one of their key National Portfolio Organisations within the region and is the premiere producing Theatre in Hertfordshire. The organisation also receives strong partnership support from Watford Borough Council, with whom it has a successful working relationship delivering cultural opportunities for all.

The venue produces high quality theatre productions and co-productions both in Watford and at partner venues further afield, with an emphasis on new work, cultural diversity, as well as reworked classics. Each season consists of a combination of in-house productions and co-productions, visiting productions and a range of one-off presentations of world class comedy and dance to attract the widest possible audiences. Seasons also include a range of films and 'live' and 'as live' broadcasts from the Royal National Theatre through to the Royal Opera House.

The Theatre is at the heart of Watford's community and offers a variety of participatory activities including Youth Theatre, a range of cultural celebrations, large scale community productions and workshops for young people and adults, as well as playing a leadership role in the cultural life of the town and the wider region.

The building is also home to two resident/associate companies, Rifco Arts and Tiata Fahodzi and a series of Creative Associates including writers Timberlake Wertenbaker, Gary Owen and Charlotte Keatley as well as Movement Directors Shona Morris and Kate Flatt.
